WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT RENOMINATED FOR PRESIDENT

Roosevelt Delegates Sit in Silence--Platform Adopted and Convention Closed

CHICAGO, June 22.—The Republican national convention this evening renominated President Taft and Vice-President Sherman.

Only one ballot was taken on each nomination.

For President, Taft received 561 votes; Roosevelt, 107; Cummins, 17; La Follette, 41; Hughes, 2. Six delegates were absent and 344 refused to vote.

For Vice-President, Sherman received 597 votes, many of the La Follette and Cummins men giving him their support.

There was no motion to make the nomination of Taft unanimous, an unprecedented incident.

Senator Root was made chairman of the committee to notify the President of his nomination, and Thomas H. Devine of the committee to notify Sherman.

The Roosevelt programme as determined upon last night was carried out at today's session of the convention after the convention had received the last of the credentials committee's report and had become permanently organized. There was no bolt, but in accordance with the programme no roll call was demanded today and after the permanent organization was completed the Roosevelt men didn't vote. This was in obedience to the request of the Colonel contained in a statement read to the convention at 3.15 o'clock this afternoon. In this he asked the Roosevelt delegates not to vote on any matter after the report of the credentials committee, on the ground that the convention did not represent the real Republican party.

The Colonel's statement was read by Henry J. Allen of Kansas. Mr. Allen supplemented it with a statement of his own which he said represented the views of a majority of the Roosevelt delegates.

The convention had been in session four hours and a half when Mr. Allen got up to read Mr. Roosevelt's statement right after the report of the committee on permanent organization had been received and adopted and Mr. Root had become permanent chairman. He had a statement to make from Theodore Roosevelt led to a noisy demonstration by the Roosevelt men lasting twenty minutes and in which the scenes of Wednesday's session were repeated to some extent. It did not have great lasting power, however, for one thing the delegates particularly the Roosevelt ones, were utterly worn out.

GOVERNMENT WILL REALIZE $20,000 FROM ITS OLD JUNK

Result of Recent Sales Very Satisfactory.

It is estimated that the government will realize $20,000 from the sale of old junk at the several naval stations and lighthouse districts since May 3.

New York yard turned in $150,000; Norfolk, $100,000; Boston, $70,000; Portsmouth, $50,000; Tompkinsville lighthouse district $50,000.

The government is said to have made a saving of nearly 45 per cent of this amount through the system lately introduced by William Jacobus, the civilian expert on waste material. Reports have it that the recent sale at Tompkinsville eclipsed any held there for many years from the fact that nearly double the money was realized and Jacobus succeeded in breaking up a combination of junk sharks that has been doing business for thirty years on the big end of the game.

The expert, who is at present at the Portsmouth yard, where his system has worked out to perfection, will start next month for the Bremerton and Mare Island yards on the west coast to establish the system.

CONTRACTOR SAYS HE LOST MONEY ON DOCK

Court of Claims Will Hear Evidence Next Month.

John Pierce of New York who built the dry dock at the navy yard here is bringing a claim against the government for the sum of $185,000, which he says he lost in the construction of the same by fault of the government.

The builder attributes much delay and loss by the collapse of the cofferdam which he says gave away while the government was taking soundings close by the dam.

That the borings weakened the structure which finally gave away and caused the basin to be flooded where the work was in progress.

Another call is made for loss on granite which the government rejected. The contractor states that the price of stone advanced after he accepted the contract to replace the granite rejected he was obliged to pay a higher cost.

The dock was completed in 1904 at a cost of $1,039,000. The court of claims will hear the case next month. The government has for several months been preparing its defence and representatives of both sides have been busy at the navy yard.

ROOSEVELT NOMINATED TO LEAD A NEW PARTY

THEODORE ROOSEVELT

Delegates Hold a Rump Convention and Place Him in Nomination

CHICAGO, June 23.—The Roosevelt delegates and alternates to the Republican convention, meeting at Orchestra Hall last night, nominated Theodore Roosevelt for President of the United States.

At the same time they declared that they represented the majority of the delegates and alternates "locally elected to the Republican national convention."

There was tremendous enthusiasm when Roosevelt's name was put in nomination.

Col. Roosevelt, who came into the hall after the nominating resolution had been adopted, thanked them for the nomination, said that he recognized them as lawfully elected delegates representing an overwhelming majority of the voters at the primaries, and said he would accept the nomination subject to the formation and approval of a new party.

He told them to go home, read out the sentiment of their people and then meet in "mass convention to nominate for the Presidency a progressive candidate on a progressive platform, a candidate and a platform that will enable us to appeal to the Northern and Southern, Eastern and Western, Republican and Democrat alike, in the name of our common American citizenship."

Col. Roosevelt referred to President Taft, the news of whose renomination by the convention he had just heard, as "the man who inspired and profited by the fraud." He made this reference to the President after he had declared the essential part of the majority as constituted in the convention to have been fraudulently sealed.

Defeat Morley Button Co's Team
12 to 5.

The North Carolina avenged her defeat of last week by the Morley team defeating that aggregation to the tune of 12 to 5 in a heavy swiftest. Both pitchers were hit hard, but Smith's strike out of 11 men and the excellent support of his team mates in pinches was the downfall of the Morley. The piffing of 11 sacks was also a great help to the North Carolina team.

At two stages of the game it was thought there would be a free for all fight, once when Timmons was called safe on a close decision at first, and when Thomas tagged Fernald at home somewhat harder than the rules call for.

Brackett and Fernald switched battery in the fourth inning, although the North Carolina got eight hits off Brackett's delivery they were well scattered and they netted only three runs.

The batting of Farnsworth and Timmons was the feature of the game. Farnsworth hitting safely five out of six times at bat for two triples, a double and two singles. Thomas hit two triples and two singles out of five times at bat.

NEW HAMPSHIRE MEN AT CONVENTION.

It was Fred W. Estabrook of Nashua who threw the bomb into the committee on credentials meeting, which led to the mad and premature bolt of Francis J. Heney and one or two other Roosevelt committeemen. Estabrook is the New Hampshire member of the national committee. Having served on the national committee last week, and having there heard the Roosevelt contests against certain Taft delegates, the New Hampshire delegation thought Mr. Estabrook just the man to represent them on the credentials committee.

It was Estabrook who suggested that the Roosevelt people ought to have not more than ten minutes to put in their evidence against state delegates, and not more than five minutes on district fights. He said today that he offered the suggestion merely as a suggestion, supposing that if it was not agreeable to everybody it would be debated and considered. Heney, instead, started for the door and called on other Roosevelt men to travel along with him. It was on the motion of Fernando W. Hartford of Portsmouth that Vice-

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR ON AN OUTING

The De Witt Clinton Commandery, Knights Templar, left this city at eight o'clock on Sunday morning on a two days' outing to the Bay of Naples in Maine. The Knights numbered nearly a hundred and they had with them the Dover Commandery, who came down by a special train and both proceeded east.

At Portland they were met by a delegation from the Portland commandery who offered knightly courtesies and the trip to Sabago Lake, and then by steamer up the river to the Bay of Naples was a delightful one. They will return Monday evening.

Today the Bradford Commandery of Haverhill with their guests the Portland Commandery, will hold their outing at the Hotel Wentworth. The Portland commandery will go to Haverhill by special train and from there with the Haverhill Knights they will make the trip to the Wentworth by automobiles, arriving this afternoon. They will remain at the Wentworth until Tuesday afternoon.

THAT FIRE BRIGADE.

"The Fire Brigade" of Wallis Sands was organized and put in action Sunday noon by a lively flare of flame and smoke which made quite a breach in the bushes and grass on the roadside near the life-saving station. The brigade deserves much credit for promptness and efficiency in subduing the flames. But it was a very pretty display and fortunately did no material damage. It was set, probably, by a lighted match or cigarette from one of the thousand automobiles that went by during the day. The boulevard is full of them.

Monday, June 24, 1912.

The Pittsburg Dispatch says: It may be interesting to recall Mr. Roosevelt's explanation that he was not a candidate, but was simply willing to respond to the overwhelming popular demand.

The New York World says it took 12 hours to compass passing of Roosevelt from confidence to defeat. At midnight Wednesday he was unshaken in belief that victory was to be his. At noon Thursday he realized that nothing was left to him except to lead the forlorn hope of a "progressive" bolt, in which not more than 150 delegates would join.

Governor Bass must be asleep by the way the New Hampshire constitutional convention is turning down progressive measures. Woman suffrage went by the board Thursday.

Newburyport Herald.

Governor Robert Perkins Bass is at present in his home city, Chicago, in the interest of T. R.'s cause, and matters pertaining to New Hampshire are a secondary consideration with him.

Statistics show that the death rate by automobile is increasing each year. In Massachusetts during 1911, 110 persons were killed, compared with 77 in 1910; 1284 were injured last year as against 963 in 1910. During 1911, 38,907 automobiles were registered. Fees collected totaled $380,700, an average fee of $9.78 each. During 1911, 51,450 operators and chauffeurs' licenses were issued.

Col. E. Percy Stoddard wires from Chicago: "The 'hotheads, sapheads and fatheads will follow Colonel Roosevelt anywhere." Concord Patriot.

Col. Roosevelt numbers among his supporters many men of prominence and ability and the applying of such epithets to these men seems very poor judgment on the part of any rational person. Such methods will not win votes to the Taft cause by any means.

The Springfield Republican says the fact that none but delegates whose seats were not contested should vote on the question of the temporary organization of the convention was preposterous for the simple reason that if such a rule prevailed each side could start contests against every delegate on the other side and thus a convention would be reduced to an absurdity. No such rule could ever prevail unless anarchy were deliberately sought.

The Boston Transcript says it looks as if the Treasury would close its books at the end of the fiscal year, on the 30th instant, with a very comfortable surplus to its credit. It may have $25,000,000 left over after all the bills have been paid. The public ought to make note of this fact, for there is little likelihood of its seeing another Treasury surplus for some time to come. The democrats began their control of the House with loud declarations of their intention to be economical. As they have threatened the revenues for the coming year and authorized pretty liberal expenditures it is more than probable that June 30, 1912, will witness a deficit, and a deficit for which there will be comparatively little to show. A naval appropriation bill, for instance, that calls for $120,000,000 and does not provide for any new capital ship, is not a measure in which the fair-minded can see economy.

The Philadelphia Ledger says: Col. Roosevelt seems to have issued his long-expected call for a new party, though the late news from Chicago indicates that the promptings of his sickle opportunism may induce him at any moment to "recall" it. The only appropriate name for the party, if there shall be one, is the Roosevelt party, for never has there been any political movement more surely founded upon and animated by the purely selfish ambitions and personal desires of one man.

The Chicago Journal says: Was any voter ever influenced to support a candidate in primary or regular election because that candidate's likeness stares at him from every possible and conceivable public posting place? Is success in any political campaign ever decided by the comparative number of candidates' posters displayed? What possible benefit accrues to any party, faction, clique or individual by the system of disfiguring buildings, fences, telephone poles, entrances to elevated stations and myriads of other places with portraits and big-lettered, flamboyant claims and appeals?

Bird's-Eye Views.

There are a large number of voters who will not ask permission of their grandfathers before deciding how to cast their ballots this fall.

The Hon. Thomas Watson is still fighting Mr. Bryan. Let's see. Who is Tom Watson? Wasn't he the tail to one of Mr. Bryan's presidential lites?

Now that the navy department has seen fit to name our newest and biggest battleship the Arkansas, the old question of how to pronounce it will again arise.

June is the month of roses, but this year they are set unusually thick with thorns for the politicians, and some of them are likely to carry scratches that they will feel for a long time.

If Col. Roosevelt had thought of it he might have given assurances of fealty to the cause of feminine suffrage by putting aside the sombrero and wearing a thirty-nine-cent straw bonnet.

The New York people who pour kerosene on meat are willing to give Standard Oil a little extra encouragement for the sake of getting at the beef monopolists.

Col. Bryan is being credited with all kinds of intentions at Baltimore. The colonel was ever a favorite subject for the journalistic telepathists.

No man who has ever been mentioned outside of the country news papers, is eligible to run for vice president.

The politicians are worn out attending the Chicago convention, but they can all go to Baltimore and get perfect rest.

The Chicago convention can't agree on choice of a president, but they might at least settle who shall be postmaster at Billville.

Bryan will be at Chicago and Baltimore. Why not nominate him at both places as a sort of a general compromise candidate?

Statements by Mr. Filinn of Pittsburg indicate that his chief object in visiting the convention was to create groundless rumors about himself.

It is a busy bystander who undertakes to keep track of convention bulletins and baseball scores at one and the same time.

Mr. Bryan has observed that a fight on rules can always be relied on as an interesting feature of preliminary bouts.

The band will now play an introduction to a touching ballad entitled "The Faithless Delegate."

"Government by injunction" is less feared by some of our public men than legislation by an appropriation bill.

Resignation from a position in the army does not necessarily imply resignation to fate.

CURRENT OPINION

BY C. S. MADDOCKS, of Chicago.

THE EVIL OF OVER SUSPICION.

Of the several ways of rising in the world two are exactly antipodal. You may rise on stepping stones of your dead self or you may rise by stepping on or over other people. In the one case your chief agent is a critical judgment gained by experience with yourself and the world. In the other you have used some means of intimidation—tyranny, jealousy, or persecution.

Tyranny has no more common weapon and jealousy no more universal instrument than suspicion. Suspicion is common to both a successful and an unsuccessful man. It is as common among those who are high up as among those who are low down. Though many of the conditions of the past which bred suspicion have ceased to exist, their equivalents are not absent from modern society or social conditions.

Tyrannical kings proscribed or warring religious sects and mistresses with nothing to do but spy on their maids are no longer common yet men attain many positions favorable to the development of tyranny and society always furnishes the forcing frames for hotbeds of jealousy. As one of the talented, but withal suspicious men of the eighteenth century once wrote: "Many dangerous insects are daily at work to make men of merit suspicious of each other." And if men of merit are so what can we expect in the case of more common mortals?

We may forgive the unsuccessful for his misanthropy, or for the suspicious habit of mind that not infrequently grows with failure, and that alienates him more and more from his kind. He is particularly a victim of this evil, for a sane return to confidence and trust in mankind becomes to him more and more impossible. But why should the fortunate, the successful, the highly placed be suspicious? Among such the worst forms of suspicion have been engendered. The rich have been suspicious that all mankind has designs upon their riches. It has in some cases been almost impossible for them to feel any friendship for any that were not equally rich. They have suspected any honest overture toward friendship by those who might be of great help to them, and have been likely to imagine that there was dishonesty and speculation among all who served them. Of course, this has by no means been universally true, but the exceptions to it have not been over common. They have given ill names which begat ill blood, and the conditions that their suspicions have created have brought about results that seemed to make those suspicions justifiable.

June Song.

Winter's but a memory,
Spring is past and gone,
Comes the sweetest season:
Mortals chance upon:
Saturday's work is over,
Monday's coming soon—
But—the day is Sunday
And the month is June.

Meadows blue with violets,
Orchards white and pink,
Flag and spearpoint sprouting
By the river's brink;
Bluebird bursting of his throat
In a merry tune—
Knows the day is Sunday
And the month is June.

Sally in her new barge,
Me in clean nankeen,
Arm in crook a-walkin'
Where we may be seen;
Telling thus that we'll be wed
Ere another moon;
Every day'll be Sunday then,
Every month be June.

Tag Day for the Portsmouth Hospital will occur on Saturday, August 8. Everybody should interest themselves in this event and give what aid they can to help the institution that is nothing short of a blessing to the city of Portsmouth. The hospital is badly in need of linen, clothing, furniture, etc., and tag day receipts are given mostly to secure such needs, that patients may have what is absolutely necessary.

It is not the desire of the management to continue this plan of raising money by begging, but they are obliged to appeal to the public in this way that the good work there be kept up. Under the present management the public has nothing but words of praise for the untiring efforts made to care for the sick, many times under trying circumstances. Let everybody be as generous as possible on Tag day. Remember, you are not putting money into the pockets of the management, nurses or anybody else. You are helping out somebody that is sick and perhaps who has not been favored by any possession of the world's goods. Nobody is ever any poorer when helping those in need and the unfortunate.

Every little helps and if you give that little it certainly will be appreciated.

HAD PLENTY OF BOTH

Police Pick Up Saco Man Loaded With Time and Bad Boose.

Louis Faran who says he hails from Saco was picked up by Officer Shannon on Congress street this forenoon while trying to navigate under distressing circumstances.

Louis had two loads aboard, one of booze and the other cheap jewelry. When booked at the police headquarters it took the officer fifteen minutes to clean out the watches from his clothing. He had a chronometer of the Ingersoll and other famous makes in every pocket which he had purchased at some bargain sale and was out to make a bit of change in disposing of the time pieces.

The police relieved Louis of one load nice and quietly but he was obliged to sleep the other off quietly on the soft side of a pine board.

The sidewalk on Vaughan street in front of Hjelro's blacksmith shop, is in bad condition and a menace to the safety of pedestrians.

RIVER DOCK COLLAPSED

Between 15 and 20 Persons Drowned at Niagara River.

250 PERSONS GO DOWN

Only Seven of the Bodies Have Been Recovered.

BUFFALO, June 24.—Between fifteen and twenty persons were drowned and a number injured last night when a fifty-foot dock at Eagle park, Grand Island, Niagara river, collapsed under the weight of 250 people, precipitating them into twelve feet of water. Up to midnight last night seven bodies had been recovered, of which six have been identified.

The known dead are: Mrs. McKee, McKee, Mrs. McKee's 10-year-old daughter; Mrs. Richmeyer and her 10-year-old child, Mrs. Gallagher, Cecilia Kelley, 9 years old.

Missing—Mrs. Heilstrom and 4-year-old baby, Viola Semf, Miss Irene Thomas, Mrs. Westfall, Mrs. Hyde.

So far as known the victims were residents of Buffalo.

The excursionists were preparing to return to Buffalo after an outing at the park, and between 250 and 300 persons were on the dock to take the steamer when the underpinning gave way and hurried those nearest the boat into the river.

The outing was under the auspices of Court Amherst lodge, 232, I. O. O. F., of Black Rock, and was for the benefit of sick brothers.

The party left Buffalo yesterday morning on the steamer Henry Koerber and the barge Lottie Koerber in tow. The first news of the accident reached the city when Mrs. Miller, wife of the proprietor of the hotel at Eagle park, telephoned, and the place, which is on the Canadian branch of the river, has been out of communication since.

Fix Brothers, owners of the excursion steamship line to which the Henry Koerber and the Lottie Koerber belong, said last night that at least 200 persons were thrown into the water and that seven bodies had been recovered. The boats had carried one load back to Buffalo and were at the dock taking on the remainder when the accident occurred.

The dock was V-shaped with the landing place at the apex. It is at the foot of a high embankment and its approach is by a long flight of stairs. The current in the river at this point, which is twelve miles above Niagara Falls, is eight miles an hour.

STILL A REPUBLICAN

Governor Hadley Sees No Reason For Third Party.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 23.—Governor Hadley, on his return today from the Chicago convention, declared his intention not to join Roosevelt's third party movement.

"I believe I can render more service to the people as a member of the Republican party than joining in the formation of a third party," he said. "While I have in no way changed my mind as to the correctness of that for which I have contended, I undertake to say that no political party ever did, or ever will exist, in which at times men will not use authority unfairly and to accomplish selfish and improper ends."

"In my opinion, the best way successfully to fight such men and methods and also the best way in which to fight for correct principles of government, is within the party, rather than by leaving it."

"There were some planks which were omitted from the platform which I would like to have seen adopted. But there will be found, I believe, nothing in the platform that is objectionable to any Republican. And on the whole, it is the most progressive platform we have ever presented to the American people."

At the conclusion the commission ordered the petitioners to file a brief covering the points at issue on August 1, and gave the railroad 15 days in which to make answer. DOCTOR MOVED MAN'S BRAIN

Baltimore.—An operation that probably never has been equalled in delicacy or skill has been performed by Dr. Harvey Cushing, brain specialist of the Johns Hopkins Hospital, in which a portion of the minor brain, known as the pituitary, was shoved aside and replaced after a quantity of foreign fluid had been removed. The patient, operated on last week, is on the road to recovery. He is Harry Edmonson of Columbus, O.

An X-ray photograph revealed the fluid and to this foreign liquid falling eyelid and drowsy periods were attributed. The fluid could not be drained before first drilling a tiny hole just behind the left ear, leading to the cavity. Then, before the fluid could be drawn off, the pituitary had to be removed or directed to one side, for it blocked the flow. To loosen the little ball would be fatal to the patient, but at last the nerves were moved to one side, drawing the small body after them and leaving an opening for the fluid to escape.

Sacking the Animals.
Spader Johnson, one of the principal clowns with the Ringling circus, was spinning yarns in the bedroom and told this:
A rube visitor to the city had spent all of the morning reading circus bills and was just going to his hotel when he saw a red painted United States mail wagon going down the street. He sized it up for a circus wagon and followed it four miles to the postoffice and with wide open mouth watched the unloading of the mail.

Late in the afternoon he met another rube and remarked:
"Adner, I followed one of them circus wagons all the way downtown, an' when they unloaded they took the varmints out in sacks."—Chicago Post.

FIGHTS FOR FREEDOM

Young Filipino Is Alleged Victim of Persecution.

Sotto, Convicted of Felony, Long a Fugitive in the British Crown Colony of Hongkong—Extradition Is Sought After Four Years.

Hongkong.—Alleging persecution of a Filipino patriot by the Philippine authorities is causing much denunciations in the far east, especially in this British Crown colony, where a big part of the drama is being played.

The victim is a young journalist, Vicente Sotto, a qualified attorney and brother of one of the most prominent members of the Filipino assembly. Sotto, because of his ardent championing of the cause of his compatriots, has been tried twice for sedition, and twenty-four times for libel. In every instance save one, however, he was discharged. Failing to suppress him by these means, the authorities brought a charge of seduction of a native girl against him and he was sentenced to four years' imprisonment and ordered to pay a large sum to the girl's mother. On appeal the verdict was confirmed, but the sentences were substantially reduced.

Belong on bail, Sotto fled from the islands, and for the past four years has been residing in Hongkong and for the last six months has been editing a little bi-lingual called the Philippine Republic, devoted to immediate and complete independence for the Philippines. Published and run in the British colony, it has warmly denounced the government of the Philippines. For a time the Manila authorities did nothing, but when the paper began to circulate in the islands and to receive support and recognition from Boston they revived the seduction case and a few weeks ago sought his extradition.

In its issue a week before the application for extradition the little journal published what it described as a verbatim account of a conversation between a Mr. Artacho and General Ricarte, on the little island of Lina, Hongkong, wherein the former stated that he had been commissioned by Gen. Franklin Bell to urge the latter to take the oath of allegiance to the United States and return to the Philippines, promising him, on the assurance of General Bell, that if he did so he would get a fat position in the government service. Ricarte, however, turned the offer down.

It is admitted that the interview took place, but it is now being urged that the former was in no way sent as an emissary from General Bell.

Sotto is fighting extradition on the ground that the proceedings are being taken for the purpose of punishing him for a merely political offense.

INDIANS HACK UP HIS FACE

They Think Captain Bartlett Is Ghost of a Dead Marksman Who Died Several Months Ago.

San Bernardino, Cal.—Capt. James Bartlett, who for years has traversed the desert collecting specimens for the Smithsonian Institution, has arrived here, and with his face and body cut and bruised and telling a story of having been attacked by Colorado river Indians, who thought him an evil spirit.

"When I appeared in their village," said Captain Bartlett, "the Indians were terror-stricken. They seized me and threw me into a hut, about which they placed a guard. Their warriors worked themselves into a frenzy with a religious dance.

"I learned that they thought I was the ghost of another Captain Bartlett, a crack shot with a rifle, who died several months ago in Los Angeles. It seemed that while men had read in the papers of Capt. Bartlett's death and, thinking it was I, had told the Indians that I was dead.

"When night came the guard about my hut relaxed its vigilance and I made my escape."

GAINS FORTUNE IN ACCIDENT

Man Brought to a Chicago Hospital Learns of Legacy of Several Thousand Dollars.

Chicago.—Michael Welter, who was injured by runaway mules at Edwardsville, Ill., and brought to a hospital here, disclosed his identity recently and learned that a legacy of several thousand dollars was awaiting him.

Welter ran away from home in Lake county. His first letter home was not answered and he never wrote again. His father and mother have since died, but never believing that their son was dead provided for him in their will. The money is being held for him by the Lake county treasurer.

When Welter was injured he asked the poorhouse authorities at Edwardsville to write his sister, who had him brought to Chicago.

OLD ABE MARTIN IN FLESH

Says He Never Heard of Kin Hubbard, But Knows All the Family.

"It ain't s'much what yuh do es where yuh ara when yuh do it." He was Abe Martin in the flesh from his brogan square-toed shoes to the three hairs awry at the crown of his head and his homely philosophy. "Hullo there, Abe," said Deputy Prosecutor McCarty, scanning in astonishment the jauned figure. "How'd you get into police court?"

Judge Collins looked him over from head to foot. Abe grinned good naturedly and continued:
"Fer instance, if I'd took three drinks down home nobody's stock 'bout it—up here I'd n'pils the p'lice arrest me an' I ain't got a thing agin 'em fer it, nuther."

The semblance to Abe Martin was so striking in outline that some one believed he had found the original, the artist creator's original.

"Do you know Kin Hubbard?"
"Sure, I know all the Hubbards down 'U' Clayton—mighty nice folks, tew Who'd yuh say—Kin. They ain't none of 'em named Kin—not as I know of."

He don't strenuously belong from Brown county. He was from Henricks, he said.

An m'names like my daddy before me. An we're plain farmers, I don't know where folks get this Abe Martin they all call me. I ain't never read nothin' 'bout no president or congress man of that name. Some one said his picture wuz in the paper, but I ain't never seen it."

And Judge Collins dismissed the charge of drunkenness and let him go.

NOT THE AUSTRIAN EAGLE

Little Visitor to the Zoo Knew That That Bird Has Two Heads.

Never try to tell anything to a boy who has gone to these modern public schools. Why, those institutions of learning teach more things that you ever heard of when you were young, that you've never heard of since you were not young.

Here's a modern instance:
A six-year-old boy was taken to the zoo last Sunday by his forty-year-old father. They saw the elephant, they saw the monkeys, they saw the ox. Finally they got to the ornithological collection. The kid noticed an interesting bird in the eagle cage, and he asked:

"Papa, what's that bird?"
Papa looked at the label and replied, "That is an Austrian eagle."

"Gwan!" said the boy; "it ain't no such thing."

"Yes it is—it says so in the catalogue."
"I don't care what it says in th' catalogue. I got eyes. This here bird ain't got but one head. Th' Austrian eagle has two heads, and I know fer I've saw a pitcher of it on flags!"

As to Fate.

Carra Harris, author of "The Recording Angel," makes some keen observations on the destinies of human beings in general. One of the representative bits of her philosophy follows:

"The biography of humans is made up more of what they plan to do than of what they really achieve, if it is set down literally. You work hard with a certain aim in view. You purpose to arrive with your collateral all properly arranged for the event. It is clear sailing. Then fate takes the gripes and inadvertently kicks you under the fifth rib; and there you are, set back about ten years. Your grandmother died without leaving you the inheritance you had every reason to expect. You have to get up and make your own fortune. Or, the ballots are counted, and you are not elected. You have to run again. God sees to it that you do not butt the stars every time you fetch a surge. It is providential precaution against your destruction of the solar system."

Inclination to Get Into Ruts.

We are all too much inclined to get into ruts. For one thing it is easy. For another, some of us dislike doing the unusual for fear of being talked about or laughed at. Laziness, indifference, or self-consciousness holds us tight and fast in the same routine of living year in and year out.

Women shut themselves out of much that is live and vital by not joining some of the women's clubs that are now so important a part of life.

They are shutting out whole universes when they confine themselves to one line of reading.

Indeed, one can create many new worlds for herself by bringing into one's life new interests. It is one of the most effective ways of keeping young.

Englishman Norwegian Knight.

King Haakon of Norway has created Angus Watson of the firm of Angus Watson & Co. a first class knight of the Norwegian Order of St. Olaf, and has given him the insignia of the order.

This order, which is very rarely conferred except to Norwegians, has been given to Mr. Watson with the consent of the British sovereign.

This decoration has been granted as an acknowledgment of the services that Mr. Watson has been able to render the Norwegian fishing industry in various parts of the world in connection with the sale of the succulent fish which is familiar to all as "skipper."

RAILROAD TIES DAMAGED BY FIRE

A still alarm was sent in on Sunday afternoon for a fire near the street railroad car barn off Bartlett street. A large pile of railroad ties and heavy lumber had caught fire in some way and it was burning merrily when the Combination wagon arrived. A hydrant stream was used and it was an hour or more before Chief Randall considered it out. A great many of the ties were badly damaged and some of the lumber.

TAFT AND SHERMAN CHOICE OF CONVENTION

Roosevelt Statement.

Here is the Roosevelt statement: A clear majority of the delegates honestly elected to this convention were chosen by the people to nominate me. Under the direction and with the encouragement of Mr. Taft by the majority of the National Committee by the so-called "steam-roller" methods and with scandalous disregard of every principle of elementary honesty and decency stole eighty or ninety delegates, putting on the temporary roll call a sufficient number of fraudulent delegates to defeat the equally expressed will of the people and to substitute a dishonest for an honest majority.

The convention has now declined to purge the roll of the fraudulent delegates placed thereon by the defunct National Committee and the majority which thus endorsed fraud was made a majority only because it included the fraudulent delegates themselves, who all sat as judges on one another's cases. If these fraudulent votes had not been cast and counted the convention would have been purged of their presence. This action makes the convention in no proper sense any longer a Republican convention representing the real Republican party. Therefore I hope the men elected, as Roosevelt delegates, will now decline to vote on any matter before the convention. I do not release any delegate from his honorable obligation to vote for me if he votes at all; but under the actual conditions I hope that he will not vote at all.

The convention as now composed has no claim to represent the voters of the Republican party. It represents nothing but successful fraud in overriding the will of the rank and file of the party. Any man nominated by the convention as now constituted will be merely the beneficiary of this successful fraud; it would be deeply discreditable to any man to accept the convention's nomination under these circumstances and any man thus accepting it would have no claim to the support of any Republican on party grounds and would have forfeited the right to ask the support of any honest man of any party on moral grounds.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

The convention began the week well on Tuesday morning by limiting debate to 10 minutes speeches. The proposed amendment to limit the terms of police court judges was killed as a starter. The Stevens amendment to remove all restrictions from the legislative power of taxation was beaten 231 to 95 and the proposition of President Jones for special taxes on growing timber, money at interest and the income therefrom was favored 223 to 83. Consideration of representation in the house was begun and the district system beaten 266 to 70.

Wednesday morning saw the defeat of the short ballot principle as applied to county officers and in the afternoon the initiative and referendum was beaten again, this time by a vote of 227 to 133. The recall was killed on a viva voce vote and so were amendments to regulate trusts, and for betterment laws.

Thursday morning was devoted to woman suffrage and after an hour and a half of debate the amendment giving such suffrage by erasing the word "male" from the constitution was killed by the rather surprising vote of 149 to 268.

Friday morning the convention declined to submit to the people a proposition for legislative initiative in the amendment of the constitution, but did take favorable action upon an amendment allowing the legislature to tax directly the income of public-service corporations and associations.

Friday afternoon the question of representation was threshed out thoroughly, Saturday morning the committee on time and mode of submitting the amendments to the people made its report, the delegates drew their pay and the curtain fell.

About 100 representatives of manufacturing industries in all parts of New Hampshire came to Concord on Monday of last week to testify before the Public Service Commission in the matter of commodity rates; and a large number of other manufacturers sent letters bearing upon the subject. The hearing was a very interesting one, those present agreeing with General Solicitor Rich of the railroad that the issue raised is the most important of all those connected with the railroad rate investigation, with which the commission has been so long and so exhaustively occupied. Much evidence was presented in support of the railroad's contention that the rates it has granted have been necessary to secure the permanence and prosperity of the New Hampshire industries along its lines, the interests of which are identical with those of the railroad insofar as they are mutually dependent.

The Commission did not sit from Monday until Friday because of the prominent part of its counsel, Messrs. Hollis of Concord and Stevens of Londonderry, were taking in the constitutional convention, in which both were sitting as delegates and to which Mr. Hollis addressed a warning that the greatest railroad war in history was choosing New Hampshire as a battle ground.

peared before the commission when it resumed its sessions on Friday. President Fitzhugh of the Central Vermont Railroad, a Grand Trunk subsidiary, testifying in the matter of the Sullivan County Railroad petition for an extension of its tracks so that the Boston & Maine might have a line of its own down the Connecticut Valley, an not be obliged to share with the Central Vermont the latter's single track line on the Vermont side. This hearing also is assuming considerable proportions, more than 600 pages of testimony having been already recorded.

H. C. PEARSON.

MR. ROOSEVELT AND BOLTING.

He must first be convinced there is a popular demand for him. These are his own words: "I shall have to see if there is a popular demand for 'me' to run."

Such was Mr. Roosevelt's attitude last winter. Does he expect to be impressive by striking it again now? We all know how he was convinced then. The "angels" ever bright and "fair" gathered at Oyster Bay. In due time the seven governors paid a visit. Earnest confabulations took place. All the visitors reported a "popular demand." Mr. Roosevelt had but to confess himself willing to serve, and an impatient multitude would do the rest.

So besieged, so assured, Mr. Roosevelt confessed willingness, and for a brief season relied upon the impatient multitude. But when it appeared that the multitude was not as impatient as reported, Mr. Roosevelt found it necessary to take the road and stir up the multitude. This he did, and there was quite a circus. The "angels" had to come across with great quantities of coin, and the seven governors to hustle and help create the demand they had described as already existing.

In a way that was easy for the "angels" and the governors. The former being "practical" creatures with wings saw a gamble in the situation, and invested their money in the hope of reward. The latter being politicians in office and ambitious to go higher thought there was advantage in trying up with a robust man about progress and reform. The "angels" being without politics appeared matters from the business standpoint, while the governors being in politics were maneuvering on staying in.

But now, Mr. Roosevelt as an independent candidate, a bolter, would simply be in the field for the purpose of defeating the regular republican candidate. There would be no prospect for his election. Would the "angels" put up for such a candidacy? Would he look as good to them in that negative role as he did last winter, and was since done, as a positive quantity in presidential calculations? Probably not. And if they should spread their wings and sadly fly off "over the hills and far away"—where would the requisite coin come from? Resounding protestations of purity by the candidate would not pay the bills of a campaign.

As for the seven governors, and others, they have acted so far as regular republicans. Were they to support Mr. Roosevelt as a bolter they would themselves become bolters, and what effect would that have on their individual fortunes? And as individuals they may be fairly suspected of solicitude for number one.

Mr. Roosevelt has led his friends, "angels" and governors, up to the point where, for a moment at least, burrah must give place to the soberest of thoughts. Even the Rooseveltians cannot henceforth count upon burrah as a large part of the equation. Politicians do not live by burrah alone.—Washington Star.

WAR PORTRAIT OF LEE RETURNED

A dispatch from Richmond, Va., says: A war-time portrait of Jefferson Davis, which hung on the wall in the office of the secretary of treasury of the Confederate states, has been "discovered" in Manchester, N. H., and will be presented to R. E. Lee Camp, Confederate Veterans, of this city. Such is the information contained in a letter from James A. Sanborn, former captain of Co. B, Tenth New Hampshire Volunteers, of Portsmouth, the present owner of the portrait, which was made in Augusta, Ga., in 1861, by special act of the Confederate congress.

Capt. Sanborn goes on to explain that Gen. John Coughlin, lieutenant-colonel of his command, took possession of the portrait while acting as provost marshal-general of the department of Virginia soon after the close of hostilities. Completing his duties in Virginia, Gen. Coughlin settled in Washington, D. C. Meanwhile he sent the portrait to Manchester, N. H. It was bundled away in a garret by members of his family and remained there until last winter, when Gen. Coughlin was on his death bed, realizing that his end was near, he sent for his old friend, Capt. Sanborn, and willed the portrait to him.

Recently Capt. Sanborn determined to send it back to its original lodging place here.

OILED ROADS A GREAT RELIEF.

Heavy Automobile Travel Does Less Damage Where Road Are Oiled.

There is a general satisfaction over the oiling of the streets and roads about the city, and it is a pity that a great deal more can not be done. The new state-road to Rye has been completed and this will be oiled at once, for with the heavy travel it would not stand up any time at all without oil. About the city the favored sections, which are in the street sprinkling district, have been taken care of, but the just as heavily traveled streets in other sections are inches deep in places with dust. The upper part of State street from Middle to Cass is the worst sufferers, for since Islington street has been closed to travel most of the heavy brewery teaming is done on State street, and at all times there is a great amount of automobile travel, but being outside of the oiled precinct, the residents along the street have to put up with the dust which flies in clouds. Last week when the Whipple school was in session the dust that way flying about the school house was disagreeable.

The Board of Public Works with what little money there has been allowed them for oil, have covered all of the South road as far as the Plains and the lower part of Pleasant street, and now have to oil the state road and whatever they have left they will put on the heavily traveled streets. Well oiled and dustless streets are an asset to any city and Portsmouth is slowly waking up to that fact.

NEW HAMPSHIRE DEMOCRATIC DELEGATION.

The New Hampshire delegation to the Democratic National convention to assemble in Baltimore Tuesday, left this state Sunday morning, and assembled at the South Station in Boston for the 2 o'clock express to Washington.

The headquarters will be at Hotel Rennett. Ex-Mayor Reed, National Committeeman, is already on the ground.

Hon. Clarence E. Carr has been made chairman of the delegation.

NATIVES AWED BY VOLCANO

Region West of Cook Inlet in Alaska Mapped by Geological Survey.

Nome, Alaska.—The volcanoes of Alaska are not all dead, and those that smoke are held in dreadful awe by the natives.

When the Indians living on the west shore of Cook Inlet first beheld a smoke-belching steamer nearing their village they fled precipitately, first closing their houses so that the "demon of the volcano," which they believed was approaching, might be induced to pass by.

As late as 1888 Mount Augustine, a volcanic cone which rises 4,000 feet out of the waters of the inlet, was in violent eruption, and Mount Iliamna and Mount Redoubt, about 10,000 feet high, towering above the coast range, were in eruption in 1854 and 1902, respectively.

An Active Volcano.

That Vulcan is still active within these mountains is attested by the persistent clouds of steam rising from their summits and by occasional light showers of volcanic dust.

The natives say that Iliamna is the name of a great demon-fish which lives in Lake Iliamna and is ever on the watch to destroy the unwary, so that the native who risks himself on its waters in his frail craft is accounted venturesome.

The lake is, however, the largest fresh water body in Alaska, and is frequently swept by terrific gales. It is 80 miles long by 8 to 20 miles wide—somewhat larger, perhaps, than Long Island sound. Its bottom is far below sea level.

North of the tributary to Iliamna lake is Clark lake, more than 50 miles long, but narrow. This lake is 220 feet above the ocean tides, but in places is more than 600 feet deep.

The region containing these interesting volcanoes and lakes was the scene of very early missionary endeavor and trade exploitation by the Russians. Nevertheless little exact knowledge of the region has been acquired and that has been largely inaccessible to the public, so that the recent investigations by the United States geological survey, a report on which has just been published, should be well come.

This report describes the geographic and geologic features and the mineral resources of an area covering more than 5,000 square miles lying west of Cook Inlet. The geology is treated in considerable length, and so also the prospective mineral resources, which are copper, gold, silver and petroleum. None of these minerals have yet been shipped from this district, but the region may nevertheless some day become important commercially.

NEVER HEARD OF HEAVEN

John and Joseph Shake Their Heads When Questioned by Judge in New York Court.

New York.—Rabbi Harris Plaklin, who has one synagogue in Grand street, Brooklyn, and two in Manhattan, appeared in the children's court to press charges of malicious mischief against two young brothers, one aged thirteen years and the other ten. The elder of the two, John Watuskarski, was found guilty. Little Joseph was allowed to go home. John will be paroled.

The rabbi alleged that the two boys threw bricks at him and struck him in the head with one of them, and called him names.

Judge Ryan, when examining the boys, asked them if they had ever heard of God or heaven. John and Joseph, in spite of their biblical names, shook their heads.

Love by Wireless Angers Uncle Sam.

Newport, R. I.—The latest thing to retard official wireless communication of the naval torpedo station and ships of the Atlantic fleet is the large number of messages from girls sent by the manly jack tars of the big ships.

These maidens, living in Boston and other large cities along the coast, send the most trivial messages to their seafaring friends. One of the most ardent messages intercepted here was from "Sweetheart Maggie" to "Darling Jack," in which Jack was implored to come to Boston as soon as he could because Maggie's heart was "just melting away" for him and he hadn't kissed her for so long her "lips were dry."

Captain Williams, commanding the torpedo station, has incorporated many of the messages in a report.

ANNUAL OUTING LITTLE BOWERY ASSOCIATION

Large Attendance and Everybody Thoroughly Pleased.

The best yet was the unanimous verdict of all who attended the ninth annual picnic of the Little Bowery Association, held at Newick's farm, Bayside, Newington, on Sunday.

The day was an ideal one and upwards of one hundred persons participated in the festivities of the occasion. President Eben H. Blaisdell of the association, who arranged the details, made ample provision for all and all present were loud in their praise of the entertainment afforded. During the day the association had as its guests Mayor D. W. Badger, Sheriff Spinney, County Solicitor Guphill, Assessor of Taxes John Yarwood and others.

At noon a repast prepared by Chief Arthur Blaisdell and his assistants, Henry Lattime and William Patterson, was served; consisting of fish chowder, steamed clams, baked beans, ham and chicken sandwiches, frankfurts, rolls, doughnuts, crackers and cheese, hot coffee.

During the afternoon the party was entertained by humorous recitations by Jack Deveney.

The return to this city was made late in the afternoon, all being highly pleased with the day's outing which was one of the most successful in the history of the Little Bowery Association.

MEN WANTED

On Friday, June 7th, a number of employees of the Boston Elevated Railway Company left their positions without notice and went on a strike which now exists. These represented almost entirely the newer, younger, more inexperienced men. A large majority of the men, including nearly all of the older, responsible men, remained with the Company and have faithfully served it in operating its car service, which has been well maintained over its entire system.

The Company wants at once suitable experienced Motormen and Conductors to fill the places of men who have left the service, and offers attractive permanent employment not only to these but to other worthy persons who can qualify.

For full information write or apply to Superintendent of Employment, 153 Milk Street, Boston, Mass.
